

ENVIRONMENTAL ENGINEER

THE COMPANY

Constructive Solutions is a multi disciplinary consulting firm. It carries out a wide variety of works including the following:

- Project management
- Waste management
- Contract administration
- Environmental assessments and management
- Community education
- Civil design (road, bridges)

Our client base includes private and public sector clients, with the mining industry and Local Government currently comprising a major proportion of our clients.

Our work is based largely in inland northern NSW, although our works often take us further afield and interstate.

A more comprehensive picture of what we do and our clients can be found by looking at the list of completed works on our website (www.constructivesolutions.com.au).

THE POSITION

The position being offered will be responsible for a variety of projects, with the work being allocated to suit the experience and future development needs of the Engineer. The exact nature of the works involved will vary, depending on the nature of the jobs that Constructive Solutions has on the books at any one time. Experienced Environmental Engineers are part of our staff and are available to provide professional guidance and mentoring.

There will be a requirement to be away from the Tamworth area on a regular basis. This would probably average one night away per week, depending on the nature of the work and the location of the clients.

Typical works may include undertaking environmental assessments, preparing environmental impact statements (EISs) or environmental reports such as State of Environment (SoE), review of environmental factors (REFs), writing Environmental Management Plans, evaluation of contaminated sites and working on water, waste, noise and air quality projects. Effective and constructive client liaison and community consultation are key components of the work.

THE PERSON

The person we are looking for will need to have the following blend of qualifications, experience and qualities.

- A degree in Environmental Engineering with 2-5 years work experience in Australia in this field (essential criteria for the position)
- Excellent communication skills, both written and oral
- Highly developed interpersonal skills
- A high degree of computer literacy
- The ability to work with minimal supervision
- A demonstrated ability to meet deadlines

Employment is conditional on the applicant holding a current NSW drivers licence.

SALARY AND CONDITIONS

An attractive salary is available to the right applicant. The packaging of this salary is flexible to offer the best outcome for both parties. A vehicle can be provided or a car allowance paid, whichever is more suitable. A mobile phone and laptop computer will be provided.

Location is flexible. Our office is in Tamworth and that is our preferred location, however, some of our staff work from other locations, communicating by phone and email. It is expected that the applicant would be based in a convenient location to serve our existing client base in northern NSW.

APPLICATIONS

Applicants should clearly relate their experience to the requirements listed previously, when submitting their job application.

Applications are to be sent to the following address or emailed to admin@constructivesolutions.com.au:
